

ABSTRACT

The invention is directed to a method and apparatus for reducing the transmission requirements of a system for transmitting image data to a display device. The image data is stored in a memory. A portion of the image data is selected so that remaining image data is not selected. The selected portion of the image data is fetched from the memory while the remaining image data is not fetched from the memory.